So, what do homeschoolers just like you have to say about World History?

"We are so thankful for Heart of Dakota! I can focus on teaching my children, knowing the very best books and resources are at our fingertips each day. We loved using the World History guide last year, reading amazing books, completing fun projects, and connecting with our learning in a very unique way. From traveling with Christian in Pilgrim's Progress, to experiencing historical events as if we were actually there, as well as interacting with literature through the light of God's Word. Homeschooling through high school with Heart of Dakota has been a real blessing!"

"I love that my son is so independent with his work in the World History guide, and that he is able to move throughout his day doing each assignment in the order that he chooses, which helps him feel more in control of his education. He says his favorite part about this guide is the literature study and especially the book choices. One of my favorite parts is the Pilgrim's Progress study, which we enjoy saving to do together on Sunday's after church. I was also pleasantly surprised with how easy teaching high school Biology and doing Biology labs was because of Heart of Dakota's recommendations! Thank you from the bottom of my heart!"

"We loved using World History because it was a wonderful fit for our son, who has Aspergers. There is such an interesting variety of books and activities--he never liked art before using the art program included in this curriculum, but the lessons were well-taught and easy to follow. He was surprised at how well his projects turned out. The best part, though, is not being tied to a computer for everything. He can read on the couch or outside, at the table or in the recliner. And I like that he can follow his guide independently while still being accountable to the teacher for his progress."

"My daughter said, "I like doing Heart of Dakota, It makes me feel like I am in a prestigious private school." These programs are deep, rich, and thought provoking. They inspire my daughter to dig deeper, work harder, and ask tough questions. I don't know if that equates to "a prestigious private school" experience, but I will never question the potential that lies between the covers of each of these well designed high school guides. Thank you, Mrs. Austin, for listening to God's calling to share your gifts with other homeschooling families and for your excellent execution of this monumental task."

"We are a Heart of Dakota family! My 14 year old is currently doing World History. I have loved the challenging curriculum, the simplicity of the grade book template, and the thorough class descriptions. My daughter is enjoying the Fine Arts choice, Spanish, and all the wonderful books she gets to read. She was hesitant about Pilgrim's Progress when we first saw the curriculum, but has been pleasantly surprised with how helpful the books and audio have been to her understanding. I have peace of mind that Heart of Dakota is setting her up for success even in subjects that aren't her strongest. We have been using Heart of Dakota from the beginning and continue to love this curriculum."
